

Niels Wilhelm Knudsen Quartet – Impulse (2018)

On this album, the fourth in his own name, bassist and composer Niels Wilhelm Knudsen finds a new path.

A new approach to the music with greater dynamics and more open spaces.

New compositions that build upon his earlier work and challenges it.

A new band of sharply involved musicians, all with attitude and distinct profiles.

I wanted to involve the band as much as possible in the shaping of the material. The arrangements of the tunes are made by the whole group. This give and take has a great impact on the music on the album and on the way we work together as a group.

Niels Wilhelm Knudsen Quartet is group of highly creative danish jazz musicians. All leaders in their own right. Thomas Hass is a highly respected saxophone player and composer, full of wild ideas played with a great tone. Kathrine Windfeld is the leader of her own succesful bigband, for which she also composes. Her quick mind and brilliant sense of humor is evident in her playing. Drummer Michael Dalgas plays with impeccable taste and great intuition, always the right thing for the song.
